Hilllife Dedicated to Miss Helen Wilkin

To a person whose high academic standards have raised our own, whose helpfulness and friendship have meant much to us, and whose sparkling wit and personality have lightened our studies, the Senior Class dedicates this 1964 HILLIFE to Miss Helen Wilkin.

In Miss Wilkin's history classes one not only learns of past ages but also acquires experience in debate and research. Asking more from students than mere memorization of facts, Miss Wilkin requires that they grasp the trends and forces which shape history. Her objective is to make her students aware of the causes of historical events and of their effect upon history in order that they may observe the relationship between the past and the present.

In addition to teaching, Miss Wilkin serves as the adviser to the National Honor Society. This year she was instrumental in organizing the Current Events Club, which features debate on modern problems. Last year, after regular school hours, Miss Wilkin taught world history to interested seniors, even though the course was not offered in the curriculum at that time.

Above all, Miss Wilkin is noted for her wit. Her legendary acquaintance with "Tommy Jefferson" is a familiar topic of conversation among Miss Wilkin's "scholars," "deacons," and "scalawags." Besides her genuine interest in her students, Miss Wilkin's lively comments and spontaneous expressions, notably "Whoo t' day," make her students particularly fond of her.

Chapel Hill Senior High Offers Varied

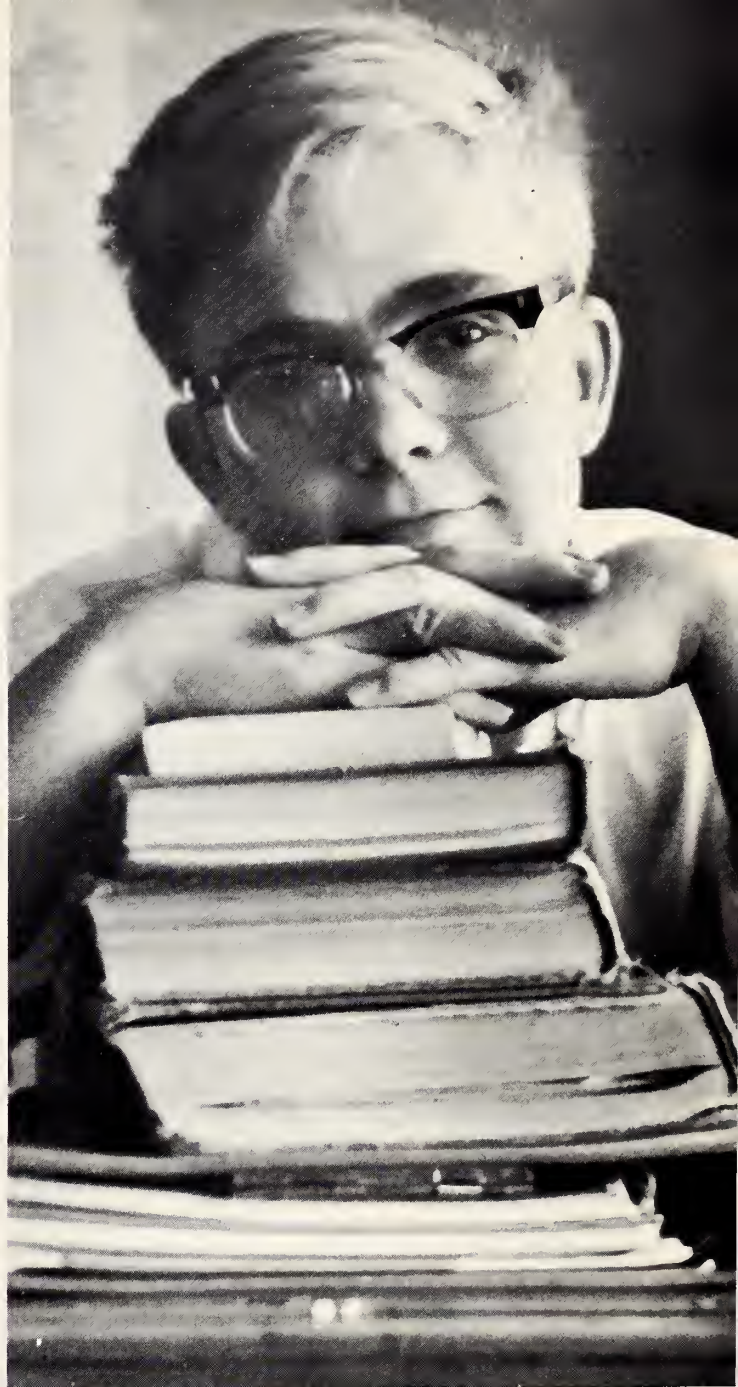

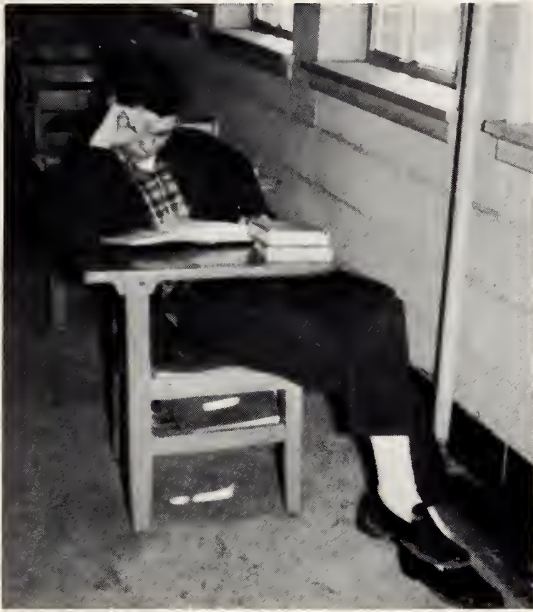

Because we feel that opportunity characterizes our lives in Chapel Hill, we have chosen this as the theme of the 1964 HILLIFE. The school, university, and town continually offer us opportunities--academic and recreational.

Chapel Hill Senior High School is noted for its rigorous academic program, demanding of each student efforts equal to his capabilities. Some students gain motivation from the university and from the challenge of higher education that it presents. Others seek the opportunities in training programs which are offered by our business community. Whichever the choice, CHSHS prepares us to utilize the opportunities in both areas.

Opportunities

Athletic contests, plays, and dances constitute the major part of the high school's recreational opportunities. The university makes special concessions to our students so that they may enjoy a greater quality and variety of entertainment. With the passage of the recreation tax last year, much has been done by the townspeople to provide an adequate program of recreation.

The 1964 HILLIFE is a history of the opportunities we have been offered while attending Chapel Hill Senior High School.

Fall Sets Spirited Tone for Year

School began a day earlier for the sophomores and those upperclassmen who were involved in the annual Weep Week Orientation Program. That same night the Mighty Wildcats triumphed over arch-rival Hillsboro, 20-13, in the opening game of the season.

Changing schedules, paying book fees, and receiving locks and lockers characterized the first frenzied week of school activity. Teachers wasted no time in presenting their programs of study for the coming year. Amid groans and exclamations of joy, it was announced that report cards would be issued once every nine weeks.

Work began in earnest with the seniors reading RETURN OF THE NATIVE, juniors analyzing the sins of Hester Prynne in THE SCARLET LETTER, and sophomores exploring the mysteries of the library--Mrs. Peacock's white question sheets in hand.

Successes were scored in numerous CHSHS activities--the Cross Country team finished as one of the state's top ten teams, the UCYM surpassed its UNICEF goal of one thousand dollars, and school spirit was greater than ever.

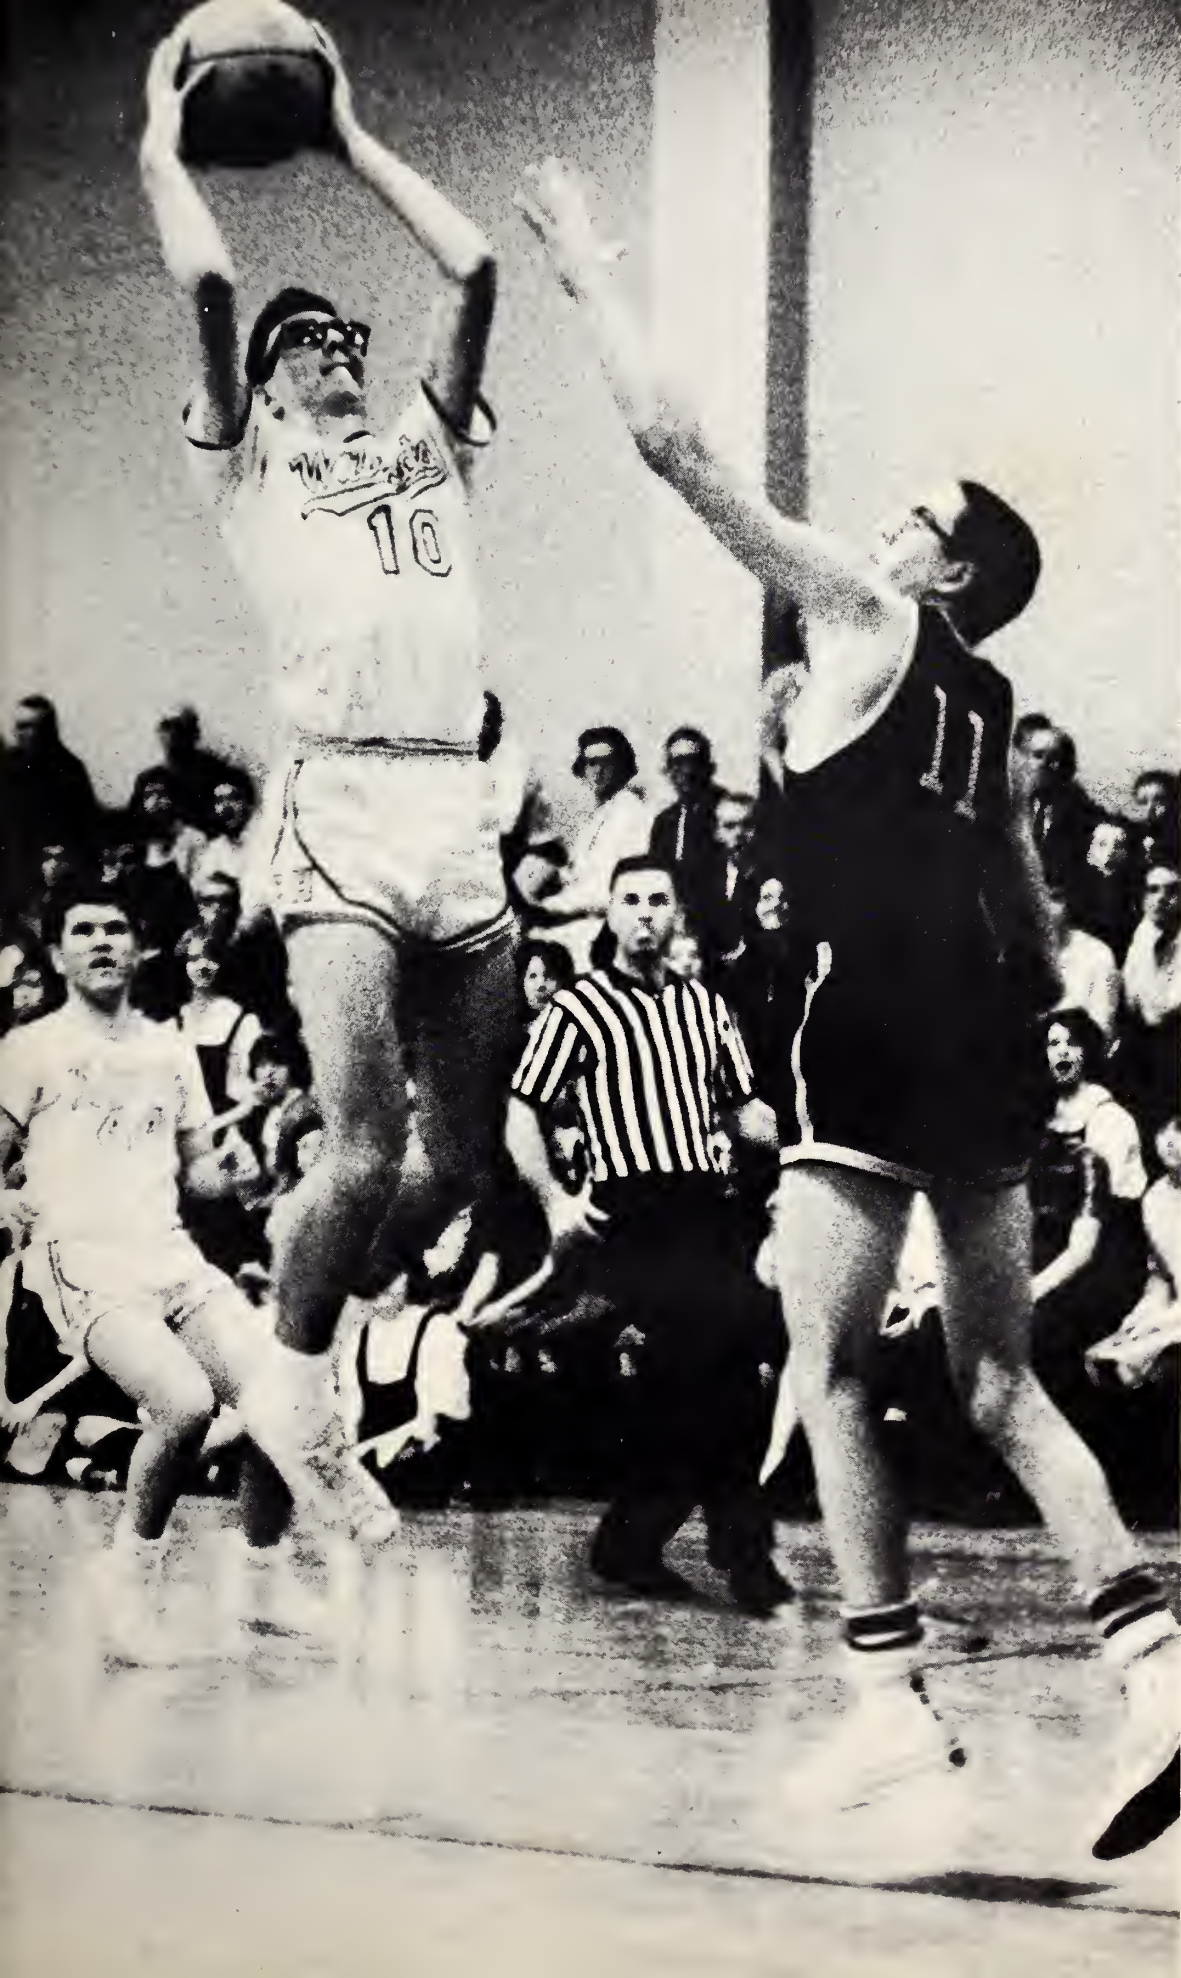

Midyear's Activity—Increased Study

As the winter holiday season approached, its festive spirit was darkened by the tragic death of President John Fitzgerald Kennedy. The true Christmas spirit, nevertheless, was not lost but possibly intensified through the example set by our late President. The student body for their Christmas project not only offered assistance to North Carolina migrant workers but also renewed support for Thom, the Vietnamese child.

The New Year brought renewed scholastic efforts in preparation for exams and College Boards. Cold weather turned CHHSers in-doors to the basketball court and the swimming pool. Prospects were high for both the basketball and swimming teams because of the return of many talented lettermen.

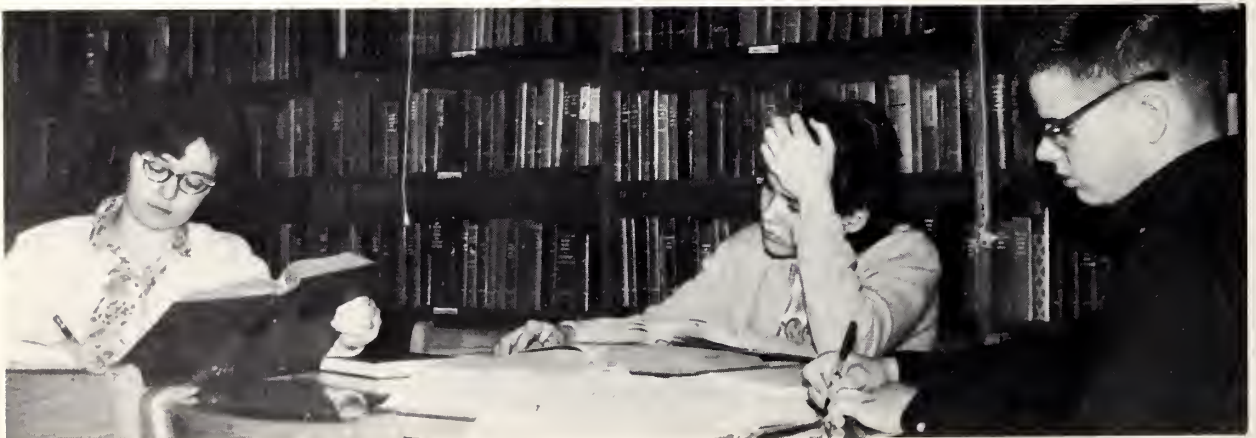

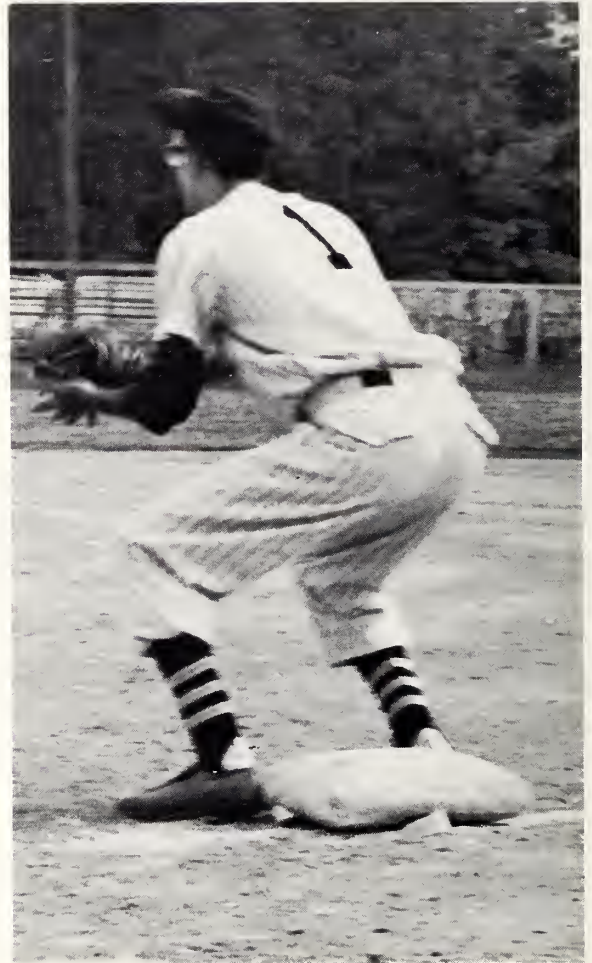

Students Fight

The change of seasons saw baseball and track replace basketball and swimming as the centers of sports activity. In addition, tennis and golf were included in the sports program.

While the seniors were anxiously awaiting acceptance from colleges, and the sophomores were dissecting frogs, the juniors were directing all their efforts towards the upcoming Junior-Senior.

The halls of the school became a political battleground as the candidates vied for Student Council positions. Similarly, officers of the honor societies were elected, and publication staffs were appointed. Witnessing the excitement of preparation for the next year, the seniors realized that their opportunity of high school life had come to an end.

Spring Fever in Final Months of School

Academics

The public school system was created to provide basic educational opportunities so that the student is prepared for college and careers. Much responsibility rests on the faculty and administration. The greatest responsibility, however, is for the student to become aware of his opportunity and to strive to benefit from it.

DR. HOWARD THOMPSON
SUPERINTENDENT

Dr. Howard Thompson's second year as the city schools' chief administrator has meant a broadening of the curriculum for the senior high school. For those not anticipating a college education, the high school program has been redirected; emphasis has been placed on business and industrial training. At the same time, the college preparatory program has been enriched. New courses such as personal typing, chorus, mechanical drawing, and Industrial Co-operative Training are indicative of this expansion.

The Administration

Miss May Marshbanks carries the sole administrative responsibility for the school. Before school in the fall, she arranges the schedules for the student body of over 550, and during the year, she co-ordinates school activities. Miss Marshbanks, previously a teacher herself, is especially noted for the good faculty relations she maintains.

MISS MAY MARSHBANKS
PRINCIPAL

Co-ordinates Our Educational Objectives

The Chapel Hill School Board has the primary responsibility to direct the school system by its policy-making activities. The members are the elected spokesmen of the voters of Chapel Hill and Carrboro; it is their duty to provide the public educational opportunities which the citizens desire. The event of greatest concern this year has been the decision to sell the high school property on West Franklin Street. On this decision rest the future plans of Chapel Hill Senior High School.

The Parent-Teacher-Student Association (PTSA) works in co-operation with the school administration to promote the quality of the curriculum and strives to establish a closer connection between the faculty, the students, and their parents. Through its money-making projects, PTSA supports the audio-visual facilities and the school library.

Parents attend "class" to get acquainted with teachers and curriculum.

Profits from the Thrift Shop finance PTSA projects.

A Technical Age

This year, the Chapel Hill Senior High School's mathematics-sciences department is the largest in the school's history. The faculty of seven instructs the students in three levels of mathematics and in three natural sciences.

The basis of the mathematical courses is the plan outlined in the School Mathematics Study Group program. It provides two years of algebra separated by a year of geometry. In the last year, students may take Math IV, which is a continuation of the SMSG plan with emphasis on more advanced mathematical concepts. After completing the entire program, a graduate will have developed skill in algebraic, geometric, and trigonometric techniques.

Biology, chemistry, and physics are the natural science courses offered at CHSHS.

The biology course, primarily for sophomores, is designed to promote an understanding of the scientific method and to provide the necessary background for students anticipating further biological training. The course includes a study of the classification, structure, and function of plants and animals.

The chemistry course is largely college preparatory, with focus on basic principles of the science and with practice in the mathematical operations involved in dealing with chemical problems.

Likewise, the physics course deals primarily with the mathematical aspects of its subject matter. This includes mechanics, heat, sound, light, and electrical as well as atomic energy. For more practical experience, laboratory work is demanded of each student.

Literature and composition are the most important part of the English curriculum at CHSHS. Inherent in the study are grammar and proper writing techniques.

In the sophomore year, during which JULIUS CAESAR and THE PEARL are studied, a groundwork is laid for the more advanced study of the next two years.

In the study of American literature, the juniors delve into THE SCARLET LETTER and HUCKLEBERRY FINN as representative novels of literary periods in American history. New to Junior English this year is the study of MOBY DICK and A SEPARATE PEACE. The literary study is balanced by composition and short story writing.

Senior English is centered around the development of English literature. Along with MACBETH and RETURN OF THE NATIVE, seniors study famous essays. Preparing for college, they end the year by writing term papers.

The English Department also includes three courses which are more specialized in comparison to the regular English courses.

In creative writing, students write a manuscript each week, and through discussion and literary criticism of their works, they learn writing techniques.

Journalism provides training for students interested in working on a newspaper staff. It is offered to students on the junior and senior levels. Those who take the course form the PROCONIAN staff.

The World Literature course blends study of the art, music, and literature of different countries into a study of world cultures. Comparative study of the world's religions is an integral part of the first semester's work.

Social Sciences and Understanding of Life

Chapel Hill Senior High School offers its students four subjects in the social studies field--United States history, world geography, economics-sociology, and world history, which has returned to CHSHS after a year's absence from the curriculum. The material of each course is presented in the light of current history as a background for further study.

In world geography, sophomores study our world through examination of the earth's natural resources, world trade, distribution of population, and travel and communications. Students also acquire an understanding of the relationship between geography and history.

Juniors, who are required to take United States history, study the history of our country from its colonial birth to modern times. The current emphasis is on study of the CONSTITUTION and of twentieth century trends.

In the first semester, seniors who take economics-sociology learn about the economic system of the United States. In the second semester, social relationships are discussed.

Mr. Ellington describes the economic problems of Belgium and indicates its location.

Languages Increase at Home and Abroad

French, Spanish, and Latin are the three languages offered to CHSHS students. For the French and Spanish students, conversation is the most important part of their course, whereas Latin students find translation to be more important.

First year Latin stresses vocabulary and grammar as a necessary background for study of THE GALLIC WARS in the course's second year.

French students acquire better pronunciation and a working knowledge of the French language through the use of dialogues. First, second, and third year students devote one period each week to the study of French literature. This year, for the first time at CHSHS, a fourth year class of French is included in the language curriculum. Fourth year students study French literature, primarily from the Eighteenth Century. The class often has opportunities to hear French people who speak to the class entirely in their native tongue.

Besides conversation, Spanish classes emphasize the study of the culture and customs of the Spanish-speaking people. Its grammar is likewise supplemented by study of contemporary literature.

Library Services and Counseling Aid Us in Our Present Work and Future Plans

Mrs. Peacock catalogues a few of the library's twelve thousand volumes.

In organizing the library's 12,000 volume collection, Mrs. Peacock provides CHSHS with a library service that ranks with the state's best. However, the library's growing pains are made more obvious each year. Although more than four hundred new books were added this year, the book per pupil amount dropped from 23.8 to 20.8 as the high school enrollment rose. The chief problem at present, according to Mrs. Peacock, is the need for expansion.

Although teenagers are characterized as being always on the move, there is a place in Chapel Hill Senior High where one finds them patiently waiting--that is, in the school guidance office. There Mrs. Shepard checks to insure that all seniors have the necessary credits and courses for graduation. In addition, she makes available college catalogues and CEEB test information, administers vocational preference tests, and suggests various job opportunities.

Barry Archer and Bob Cadmus receive scholarship information from Mrs. Shepard.

The fine and practical arts program supplements the regular academic courses with instruction in the areas of particular interest to students with special abilities. Art and chorus offer the opportunity to gain cultural knowledge as well as practice in these arts. Home Economics prepares the girls for home management with practical experience in cooking, sewing, and home decoration. The physical education course includes health study and rigorous exercise.

In addition, Mrs. Goodman instructs two classes in personal typing and notetaking--a course primarily for students who desire these skills for their personal use.

Mrs. Britt instructs Mary Helen Peacock and Harold Wilson in bookkeeping.

Mr. Jaynes lectures D.E. class on selling techniques.

The Industrial Co-operative Training and Distributive Education programs are co-operative efforts by school and business to provide students with on-the-job training. The student acquires skill and technical information in a chosen occupational area while still in high school. In general, the emphasis of Distributive Education is on retailing, while technical knowledge is stressed in I.C.T.

Assistants Assume Responsibility for Auxiliary Services

The general maintenance of the physical plant of CHSHS is in the hands of Thomas Morrow and Thomas Pendergraft -- "Big Thomas" and "Little Thomas" to most students. Not only do they discharge their ordinary custodial duties, but they also assist by opening the school for special meetings.

The bus drivers, under the supervision of Mr. R. D. Smith, cover more than two hundred and fifty miles a day to provide transportation for students to and from school. Each driver must have passed the bus driver's exam and be in good physical condition in order to qualify as a school bus operator.

In the office, the assistants aid with the secretarial work by collecting absentee cards, checking excuses, and performing part of the regular office routine for Mrs. Marrs, the office secretary.

Mrs. Maude Holloway, with a cafeteria staff of six, serves meals to five hundred students a day---more than three hundred of these to high school students. In addition, the staff prepares the Junior-Senior Banquet and the Bosses Banquet.

Custodians Thomas Morrow and Thomas Pendergraft prepare auditorium stage for PTSA meeting.

BUS DRIVERS: Terry Upchurch, Mike Wilson, Mike Upchurch, Hazel Atkinson, Lester Hill, Jerry Sparrow, Phil Ray, Paul Sexton, and Danny Caston.

CAFETERIA STAFF: Mrs. Bowden, Miss Watts, Mrs. Holloway-manager, Mrs. Moffitt-supervisor, Mrs. Lloyd, Mr. Hackney, Miss Alford, Mrs. Perry.

OFFICE STAFF: Joan Peters, Mary Sitterson, and Linda Wheeler.

Classes

The years of maturing and preparing for the future have been filled with many wonderful opportunities to form friendships, to learn, and to work together. For the sophomores, there is a feeling of newness, a desire for acceptance, and a search for their place in the school. Juniors, caught in the whirl of activities, generate an enthusiasm and willingness to work, which foster a spirit of class unity. Seniors, the leaders of Chapel Hill Senior High School, with memories of the past and plans for the future, gain an awareness of themselves as individuals.

In Memoriam

TIMOTHY RAY AUSTIN

Death, be not proud, though some have called thee
Mighty and dreadful, for thou art not so;
For those whom thou think'st thou dost overthrow
Die not, poor Death; nor yet canst thou kill me.
From rest and sleep, which but thy pictures be,
Much pleasure, then from thee much more must flow:
And soonest our best men with thee do go,
Rest of their bones, and souls' delivery.
Thou art slave to Fate, chance, kings, and desperate men,
And dost with poison, war, and sickness dwell,
And poppy or charms can make us sleep as well,
And better than thy stroke; why swell'st thou, then?
One short sleep past, we wake eternally,
And Death shall be no more: Death thou shalt die.

Class of '64 Climbs "CHSHS's Ladder" From

WE CAME . . .

After three years of junior high life next door to that awesome institution called high school, we decided that the grass was greener on the other side of the fence and took that big leap.

We leaped right into the heart of CHSHS life with a lot of firsts . . . first orientation program, first lockers, first chance to go out for varsity sports, first glimpse of that long, rough road of study that leads to a diploma.

Under President Anne Cotterill, we sold boxes of old-fashioned candy (Mrs. Battle's pet project) to make money for the distant Jr.-Sr. We found ourselves constantly at war with the indignant seniors who found that we weren't as easy to walk over as they had thought.

Even as lowly sophs we racked up the honors. Deedee Whitney was voted CHSHS's Sweetheart Queen; Sue Tyree was chosen Maid of Honor on the Beauty Court; at Stunt Night, our boys' rendition of "The Nutcracker Sour" came out second in competition with the experienced seniors and juniors.

As the year came to an end, we scurried around madly making money for next year. Sixteen became natives on "An Isle to Remember" and were taken behind the scenes of the not-so-distant, glorious event, the Jr.-Sr.

WE SAW . . .

As juniors, we settled down enough to see that graduation was not as far off as it had been, and that high school was not getting any easier as we got older. We saw that we were really going to have to work together to raise that money by May. And we saw that school spirit meant something more than just yelling at games--something you just don't feel till you are a junior.

Our eyes were opened to all kinds of new learning experiences--Miss Wilkin's extraordinary classes with Tommy Jefferson, Andy Jackson, and Jesse Helms; the mysteries of congruent triangles with Mrs. Edwards; and the addition of HUCK FINN and THE RISE OF SILAS LAPHAM to the old stand-by, THE SCARLET LETTER, in Mrs. Gill's new novel study.

As Class President, Pete Bream led us in a chain of class projects which really pulled us together as well as pulled in the money. Jill Hickey's two touchdowns led us to victory in the Powder Puff football game. Bake sales and car washes weren't so spectacular, but they kept the money coming in.

Our crowning effort was that tremendous Junior Follies production, "Let Us Entertain You" (miraculously put together by Jackie Jennings). The opening number, with the junior news "boys" announcing the great event and ending with Kay Marley throwing her glove to the audience, set the precedent for a program of superior entertainment which netted $280.

It was another year of victories for the class of '64. Kay Marley became the second Sweetheart Queen from our class, Myrt Trageser won an all-expense paid trip to Chicago, and Paul Rhyne won the Seventh Annual World Speaking Contest and a trip to the United Nations.

With May 10 getting too close for comfort, we temporarily forgot studies and fo-

Barbara and Ralf enjoy our "Kingdom of the Sea."

Sophs to Seniors

cused all our attention on the clam, the castle, and those endless murals. Our blood, sweat, and tears really paid off, though. Except for Myrt Trageser's momentary heart attack when the Fire Department told her everything had to come down an hour beforehand, the big prom came off without a hitch. Graduation came, and as the last strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" died away, we turned our eyes toward next year and that magic status of seniors.

WE CONQUERED . . .

As President Dale Sloan, Chief Justice Billy Horn, and Head Cheerleader Kay Marley took office, we realized we had climbed to the top of the CHSHS ladder. We were the leaders now--sophs and juniors were mere pawns in the game.

School spirit received a boost in the arm as our boys turned out a winning football season and went on to do the same in basketball. Seniors Joe DiCostanzo, Glen Blackburn, and Stan Perry won honors as chosen members of the All-Conference football team. Senior spirit soared as our girls captured their second victory in the Powder Puff game. Our girls also walked off with all the honors at Homecoming. Penny Clark was crowned Homecoming Queen; Kay Marley reigned as Football Queen; and Jill Hickey was elected Senior Queen.

Under Andy Johansson, our new President, the main class activity was the traditional senior gift. Most of our real work was done in the classrooms as we tackled new and harder courses--World Lit. students found out what outside reading REALLY means; all of us met Miss Lewis's boyfriend, Tom Hardy; and a goodly number sweated out Mrs. Sommerfeld's countless Math IV tests.

Constant reminders of our senior status were those long-awaited rings, senior pictures (which made everyone look better), calling cards, invitations, and finally--caps and gowns.

Graduation day, that day we had been looking forward to as the happiest in our lives, was tinged with sadness, too, as we realized that a part of our lives was over. And as we opened the door to college, careers, and marriage, we were somehow reluctant to close the door behind us, the door of CHSHS.

Activities

The two types of organizations at Chapel Hill Senior High, those which further academic interest and those which provide a service to the school, give each student the opportunity to develop his particular interests and abilities. Furthermore, the activities which these organizations sponsor build character and a sense of responsibility in the individual. Participation in the various activities cultivates qualities of leadership, independence, and co-operativeness. As well as allowing the student to pursue individual objectives, the activities enhance the image of our school.

Student Government

Officers elected by the student body in the spring of each year and representatives elected by each homeroom comprise the CHSHS Student Council. The Student Council chose the theme "Searching for New Frontiers" to relate all projects, assemblies, dances, and bulletin boards.

The Student Council was particularly active this year. Besides heading the usual Orientation and Homecoming activities, the S.C.A. sponsored a Leadership Workshop for the schools in and around Chapel Hill. For the Christmas project, the student body voted to aid the migrant workers in North Carolina.

In addition to special projects, the S.C.A. operates Snack Shack and the School Store.

The Honor Council is the judicial branch of the Student government at CHSHS. It is composed of five members--a Chief Justice, elected by the student body; an associate justice, elected from each class; and a clerk, chosen by the Honor Council itself. The Honor Council encourages each student to uphold the CHSHS Honor Code and his own personal standards of honor.

Bi-weekly reports, issued by Chief Justice Billy Horn, are read to each homeroom so that all students may be informed of the actions of the Honor Council.

HILLIFE Staff

Business Staff Scott Thompson, Bill Pendergraft, and Jackie Jennings sell an annual to Don Neighbours.

Chapel Hill Senior High School's yearbook, the HILLIFE, is produced by a staff of twenty-four members who sacrifice their after school hours for its production. The entire yearbook is headed by Jill Hickey, Doug Johnston, and Adviser, Mrs. Diane Cohen. Each editor--Class, Activities, Sports, Features, and Ads--is responsible for the production of his entire section. His work entails designing layouts and arranging Master Layout sheets; assembling pictures and identifying them; and writing copy, headings, and captions.

This year the HILLIFE staff began work early in September with only a few previously planned ideas for the '64 HILLIFE. After the all-important voting of the theme, the staff turned to arranging layouts and drawing dummies. Work went slowly during the fall months as class and club pictures were taken, copy and headings were begun, and the CHSHS Beauty Court was selected.

Strives to Meet Publisher's Deadline

When the New Year approached, the staff became a little panicky about the uncompleted work. Photographers were sent to all corners of the school to supply the lack of the much-needed informal shots. Thanks to Big Thomas, the HILLIFE staff was able to frequent the school's typing room every Saturday during the months of January and February so that the editors could work together to complete Delmar's Master Layout forms.

To bring together the school's sports, clubs, classes, and activities into a unified story was a task requiring much hard work and fortitude. Perfection was striven for, and one became accustomed to the sight of an office littered with headings, pictures, and people. Finally, on February fifteenth, the pages of the 1964 HILLIFE were sent to the publisher.

CHSHS Chorus Blends Voices

After a year without a chorus, CHSHS welcomed a former graduate Bill Bennett, now a graduate student in music at UNC, who directs the chorus and wind ensemble. The group presented the Christmas assembly, featuring works from around the world.

Dramatics Club Stages Plays

PROCONIAN

Entertains and Informs CHSHS

The PROCONIAN, CHSHS's bi-weekly publication, presents editorials, regular reports, and feature stories concerning all aspects of life at Chapel Hill Senior High School. The PROCONIAN serves a dual purpose. While informing and entertaining CHSHS students, it also provides valuable experience in newspaper work for the many students who are on the PROCONIAN staff. In addition to class time, the reporters and copy-readers on the staff spend much of their own time working on the PROCONIAN.

Under the supervision of Adviser Mrs. Gill and Editor Jane Dyer, the PROCONIAN has received a number of awards, certificates, and citations. This year the PROCONIAN was awarded first places in North Carolina Scholastic Press competition and Southern Interscholastic Press Association competition. The N.C. Press Institute awarded the PROCONIAN first place in editorials, features, sports, coverage, and photography.

On Saturday mornings, the PROCONIAN sponsors "Ins and Outs," a radio program.

Students who are interested in journalism but who are not on the PROCONIAN staff may join the PROCONIAN Club. This year's club published a mimeographed paper, the HILLETE.

CHSHS Athletes Maintain Spirit and Sportsmanship

The Monogram Club, composed of the cheerleaders and students who have lettered in any of the interscholastic sports, seeks to serve the student body in many ways. This group is in charge of cleaning the gym after all the basketball games, readying the field for the baseball and football games, and operating concession stands at all these functions. In addition, the club this year sponsored the use of the gym during lunch for students wishing to play basketball or ping-pong.

A.F.S. Program Forms Friendships Across the Seas

Under the sponsorship of the American Field Service program for international exchange students, Mary Helen Peacock, a CHSHS senior, spent the summer of 1963, in Bogota, Colombia, with the Carlos Paramo family. While there, she learned the Spanish language and the way of life of her family.

This school year, Martine Wargny of France is living with the Sam Cornwell family. Martine is enrolled as a senior at CHSHS and works on the staff of the PRO-CONIAN. In June she will join other AFS students for a bus tour of the eastern United States before returning home.

Library Assistants Help Maintain CHSHS Library

Students who work in the library during study halls and before and after school and those who are certified to direct the use of the audio-visual equipment compose the Library Club. The club sponsors the sale of a wide selection of paperback books to the student body. The group also prepares a scrapbook for entrance in competition at the state convention and annually decorates the library for Christmas. The club is affiliated with the North Carolina High School Library Association and participated in the activities of this organization.

Future Teachers Gain Knowledge of Their Planned Profession

Those students interested in becoming teachers are members of the Chapel Hill Senior High School chapter of the Future Teachers of America. The group studies all facets of the teaching profession and hears speakers who discuss various fields and experiences of teaching. During National Education Week the club annually presents red roses to the faculty and sponsors bulletin boards stressing the importance of teaching.

Current Events: Research, Debate, Knowledge

A newly formed group, the Current Events Club, features enthusiastic and well-prepared debates on current topics of interest. Members rotate and do research on topics for presentation to the group. Both sides of each issue are presented, and periods of debate and inquiry follow. New topics are discussed at each meeting. An unusually large membership indicates the avid interest of CHHSers in topics of importance at the present time. The club also provides experience in the art of debating.

CHSHS Goes Roman in the Latin Club

Chapel Hill Senior High School Latin students, interested in going beyond the fields covered in the Latin classroom, compose the Latin Club. During the year these students discuss various Latin classics and plays. In the spring they present an elaborate Roman banquet, complete with Roman costume and decor.

France Comes to CHSHS Through the French Club

CHHSers enrolled in the extensive four year program of French studies comprise the membership of the French Club. Though all French students are not members, the club is evidence of an avid interest in the language. Conversation in French is practiced and culture of France is studied by the group. Each year, the club learns the various Christmas carols in French and sings them to the other clubs. In addition, the group this year published a French newspaper.

Enthusiastic Interest Shown in CHSHS Spanish Club

Many Chapel Hill Senior High School students who take Spanish are enrolled in the Spanish Club. Through the club they are able to practice conversing in Spanish, and, especially during the Christmas season, they have an opportunity to study many customs and ways of life not covered in the classroom. The club features various social functions and annually serves a Spanish meal. Outside speakers discuss experiences in Spain or Latin America throughout the year.

The enthusiasm expressed in the Spanish Club characterizes the growing interest of CHHSers in the Spanish language.

Industrial Cooperative Training Prepares for Skilled Futures

CHHSers enrolled in the Industrial Cooperative Training program are members of the Industrial Cooperative Training Club. The program, formed for the first time this year at CHSHS, provides an opportunity for students to train for skilled vocations in the many fields exclusive of retailing. The club is affiliated with the state and national organizations and is active in the functions of both.

The Industrial Cooperative Club sponsored their Bosses Banquet in February in cooperation with the Distributive Education Club. The group showed films and featured speakers at their club meetings.

Distributive Education Trains for Careers in Retailing

Those students enrolled in the Distributive Education program at Chapel Hill Senior High School are members of the Distributive Education Club, which is affiliated with the state and the national organizations. The students are enrolled in various academic classes, but through on-the-job training and classes in retailing and economics, they prepare for futures in the world of selling. The club features outside speakers who are connected with the Distributive Education program or the retail profession.

Honors

Excellence is reached by people who, when an opportunity presents itself, recognize and develop it to its fullest. For those students there is a personal satisfaction of success in reaching their goals, as well as the satisfaction of gaining recognition. Here we recognize the students of the CHSHS student body whose achievements mark them as outstanding.

National and Spanish Honor Societies

Each year juniors and seniors who have excelled in performance both inside and outside of the classroom are selected as members of the National Honor Society. Scholarship, leadership, character, and service are the requisites for membership in this society, which is composed of approximately ten per cent of the Junior Class and fifteen per cent of the Senior Class.

At CHSHS the National Honor Society benefits not only its members but also the entire student body by sponsoring seminars, which anyone may attend. This year, under the leadership of Doug Johnston, the NHS sponsored programs on financial aid to college students, on photography as an art, and on student tours of Russia.

The Hispanic Honor Society was established at Chapel Hill Senior High School to recognize students who maintained a high scholastic average in their study of the Spanish language. The purpose of the society is to raise the standards of other Spanish students to those set by its members. To be eligible for membership, a student must maintain an "A" average in first year Spanish and a "B" average in second year Spanish.

Under the supervision of Mrs. June Basile, the honor society worked this year on projects and programs which focused primarily on enlarging its members' knowledge of the Spanish-speaking countries, their people, and their customs.

Four Honored as Merit Finalists

Four CHSHS students qualified this year as finalists in the National Merit program. They were selected on the basis of their scores on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test given in the spring of 1963, their scores on the College Board Examinations, their high school records, and recommendations from the faculty. Mike Beeston, Jackie Jennings, Mary Helen Peacock, and David Phillips will be considered for scholarships on the basis of need by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation and will also be considered for honors by many companies participating in the National Merit Program.

Six CHSHS juniors were selected from our community to serve as delegates to the North Carolina Boys' State sponsored by the American Legion and the Institute of Government. They spent one week studying government and participating in simulated governmental activities such as elections and legislative procedure.

This week's agenda included speakers who comprehensively covered all levels of government. Highlights of the week were speeches by Governor Terry Sanford and Joseph Kissiah, Special Agent in charge of the FBI of North Carolina.

CHSHS Students Study Principles of Government at Boys' and Girls' State

Sponsored each year during the summer by the American Legion Auxiliary, Tar Heel Girls' State gives high school junior girls throughout North Carolina a chance to meet together and set up an actual working government of their own. During the course of a week, the girls learn the fundamentals of government: parliamentary procedure and its application in the House of Representatives and the Senate in passing and rejecting of motions, amendments, and bills; and election of government officials.

This year, Dale Sloan from CHSHS was elected publicity chairman of the Nationalist Party.

Sports

The athletic program at Chapel Hill Senior High School is the strongest promoter of school spirit. It offers a variety of sports competition. In such sports as football, basketball, and baseball, there is the opportunity to function as a team; while in swimming and track, the emphasis is on individual effort. Both types, however, present to their participants the opportunity to acquire a sense of sportsmanship and to develop a competitive spirit.

Chapel Hill's 7-3 Football Record

Chapel Hill's All-Conference combination: halfback Donnie Clark and guard Joe DiCostanzo join efforts for big yardage against Northern High School.

Varsity coaches Robert Culton and Joe Augustine.

Having the most outstanding season since 1959, the Chapel Hill football team compiled a record of seven wins and three losses to hold second place in the District III Conference. The team had depth in every position. Co-captain and end Glen Blackburn, end Eugene Hines, tackle Tim Farmer, and guard Joe DiCostanzo led the linemen. Quarterback Danny Leigh, fullback David Gibson, and halfbacks Donnie Clark and Stan Perry carried the ball for the Chapel Hill squad. Five Chapel Hill players were recognized by the District III coaches for their outstanding performances on the football field. Guard Joe DiCostanzo and halfback Rated 8th in N. C.

Donnie Clark were selected first string All-Conference, while Co-captain Glen Blackburn was chosen second string end. End Eugene Hines and halfback Stan Perry were given honorable mention.

The season's success was paced by unusual enthusiasm and determination exhibited by every player. During the last hot days of August, as practice got under way, this spark became evident. The citizens of Carrboro remember the evenings the team rode from the practice field to the school, singing at the tops of their lungs. Dead tired from practice and the dreaded wind sprints, but always prompted on by Glen Blackburn, they would be singing loudly such songs as "Mighty Wildcats" and "Let's Go!" or yelling, "We shall not be defeated!" The desire to win and to work hard continued with them throughout the victorious season.

CHSHS Eyes State Basketball Finals

Chapel Hill's Tim Riggsbee scrambles for the ball in a game against Roxboro.

The Chapel Hill basketball team enjoyed its best season in seven years. With outstanding talent, hustle, and drive, the Wildcats defeated every team in the conference. The team had tremendous depth with nine different boys being starters at different times during the season. Center David Ripperton, 6'6" and the leading rebounder in the conference, scored in double figures along with guard Randy Ellington and forward Bo Wells. Forward Glen Blackburn, guards Jamie Gutierrez, Tim Riggsbee, and Pat Thompson also added their ability and hustle to the squad.

Chapel Hill swept through the early part of its season by winning the Durham-Orange Tournament. In a thrilling contest, the Chapel Hill five defeated Henderson 46 to 43 on January 28 to remain the only undefeated team in the conference. Cries of "We're number one!" were heard everywhere. The talented Wildcats hoped to carry their winning streak right into the state play-offs.

Early Games Display Skill and Energy

The Kittens began their season on December 10 with a 25 to 21 victory over Ragesdale. The game ended in a tie, 20 to 20. After 30 seconds had elapsed in the overtime, Susan Culbreth hit from the outside, making the score 22 to 20. Ragesdale made it 22 to 21 on a foul shot. When the game ended, however, Chapel Hill had outscored Ragesdale in the overtime 5 to 1.

On December 13, the Kittens won the second game of the '63-'64 season, defeating the Panthers of Orange 38 to 24. Chapel Hill led all the way in this game; the halftime score was 20 to 7. In the second half the Kittens continued their high scoring pace, and Orange never threatened their lead.

Coach Rhoda Bisbing gives co-captains, Jill Hickey and Susan Culbreth, last-minute instructions.

Although the opening games were not characteristic of the season, they did display some of the team's best playing. In the following games, the Kittens lost to Webb by two points, Henderson by three points, Orange by eight points, and Roxboro by eight points. Even though the season was not particularly successful, the players were noted for their speed, determination, and good sportsmanship. Not only the players but the managers were essential to the team. In addition to keeping the locker room in order, the managers were an inspiration to the team in their helpfulness and enthusiasm.

SEATED: Scorekeepers - Martha Taylor and Joan Peters. STANDING: Managers - Laura Ranson and Gail Poe.

Catfish Anticipate Bright Season

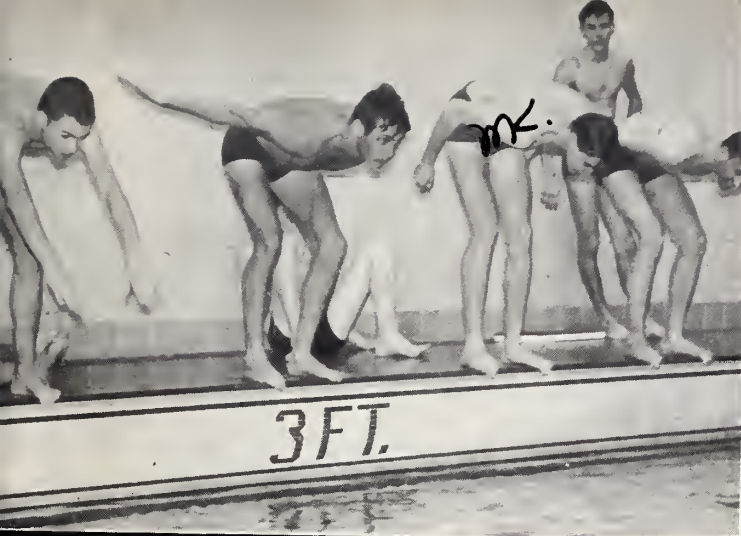

Backstroker Johnny Brown swims the last lap in a meet against Page High School.

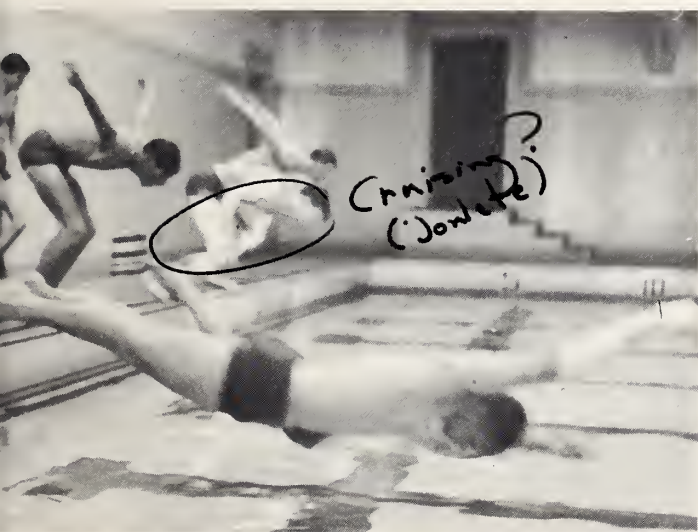

Coach Mike Schavberly and Captain Murray Whitehill.

Having all but one letterman returning, the Catfish looked forward to their brightest season in many years. Last year's squad beat Page High School while losing three other meets against tough 4-A high school competition.

Senior Captain Murray Whitehill was the leading scorer last year, setting two school records. He won the fifty yard freestyle and placed second in the hundred yard free-style at the State finals. Other returning lettermen included seniors Jim Lewis, breast stroke; long distance free-styler, Mike Beeston; and junior free-styler, Doug Anderson, second highest scorer last year. Promising returnees were Alex Taylor and John Brown.

Coach Bob Hart.

The 1963 Cross Country Team had its most successful season in CHSHS history by winning seven meets and losing only one. Victims of the Harriers were Durham High, New Hanover High, Fayetteville, and Wake Forest--all 4-A schools except for Wake Forest.

Returning lettermen for the 1964 Track Team included distance runners Bill Horn, Barry Archer, Ralf Haskill, and Co-captains Andy Johansson and Pete Bream. The field events were led by lettermen Tim Farmer, shot put; Grove Burnett, high jump; and Dickie Dickinson, pole vault. Heading the list for the sprints were Pete and Mike Beebe and Scott Thompson. With this experience, the track team hoped to do well against all competition.

TRACK TEAM, FIRST ROW: Archer, Johansson, Spransy, Haskell, Cadmus, Bream, Dickinson, Johnston, G. Burnett. SECOND ROW: M. Beebe, E. Wood, J. Buckner, Keller, Farmer, K. Buckner, Thompson, P. Beebe. THIRD ROW: Gottschalk, Stewart, M. Burnett, Byrd, B. Wood, Adams, Jones-manager.

Prospects for the 1964 Baseball Team were excellent. Last year's squad was ten and two in conference play and represented the District III in the state play-offs. They defeated Sanford and Kinston to play Bessemer of Greensboro for the state championship. CHSHS lost the championship but gained the State 3-A runner-up title.

The only positions to be replaced in this year's team were those left by Jim Dunlap and David Clark. Outfielders for the 1964 Wildcats were Glen Blackburn, Harold Pendergrass, Tim Riggsbee, and Dan Leigh. The infield included Dave Gibson, Jamie Gutierrez, Donnie Clark, David Ripperton, and Co-captains Randy Ellington and Stan Perry.

Cheerleaders Stimulate School Spirit

Head cheerleader, Kay Marley, watches as Wildcats make two points.

The cheerleaders of Chapel Hill Senior High School deserve much of the credit for the success of our athletic teams. They stimulate the school spirit by holding pep rallies, placing posters about the school to publicize the games, and providing maps to explain routes to away games. Not only do the cheerleaders encourage school spirit, but they are the backbone of our spirit. They remained on the rain-soaked field at Southern Durham to cheer on our football players while many of the spectators fled to their cars or shelter. Later in the year, they sponsored the Cheerleaders' Ball.

Features

In addition to everyday social life, certain events are held yearly at Chapel Hill Senior High School. These events honor the girls who have demonstrated qualities of friendliness and kindness. Herein, we present those girls.

CHSHS spectators tensely await the decision - Is it a touchdown?

Chapel Hill Wildcats Triumph Over the

Homecoming Queen and her escort dance to the music of the "Monzas."

The "Mighty Wildcats" pulled through with a victory over the Henderson Bulldogs in the Homecoming Football game. Donnie Clark scored a touchdown on a long run in the game's opening moments. Minutes later, Glen Blackburn picked up a fumble and raced 20 yards for the second touchdown. Henderson scored once to make the score at the half 13-6. During the second half, Chapel Hill scored one more time, making the final score 20-6.

Following this action-filled game, the Student Council sponsored a dance which added more gaiety to the evening. After the presentation of the football players and their dates, the Homecoming, Senior, and Football Queens were crowned. The victory, the exceptionally good school spirit, the dance, and the crowning of the Queens made this evening one never to be forgotten.

John Fitzgerald Kennedy

1917-1963

"Ask not what your country can do for you-- ask what you can do for your country."

. . . A CHALLENGE TO MEET OUR OPPORTUNITIES

George,

Do you actually think that you deserve for me to write in this book? You know that you are such a stupid idiot that you don't even deserve as simple act of kindness from me or anyone. Now you do know that don't you? Well as long as you know and understand where you stand in the world then I can proceed to tell you what it's been like knowing you all these years - well it hasn't been easy - you are always so mean to me! Now to get serious I had always thought a great deal of you. You are a real gentleman and Georgie, that's the first way to win the heart of any girl - I remember you back in the 6th grade - and I remember when you took me to hi-y clances and I remember when you was off with all my clothes - (hey)

TO ONE GREAT
GOLFER FROM ANOTHER
IF YOU EVER IMPROVE I'LL
"CONSIDER!" PLAYING YOU, BUT UNTIL THEN STICK TO THE DUFFERS LIKE
"ARM" + "JACK". BEST OF LUCK IN THE FUTURE AND IN COLLEGE!

Tommy

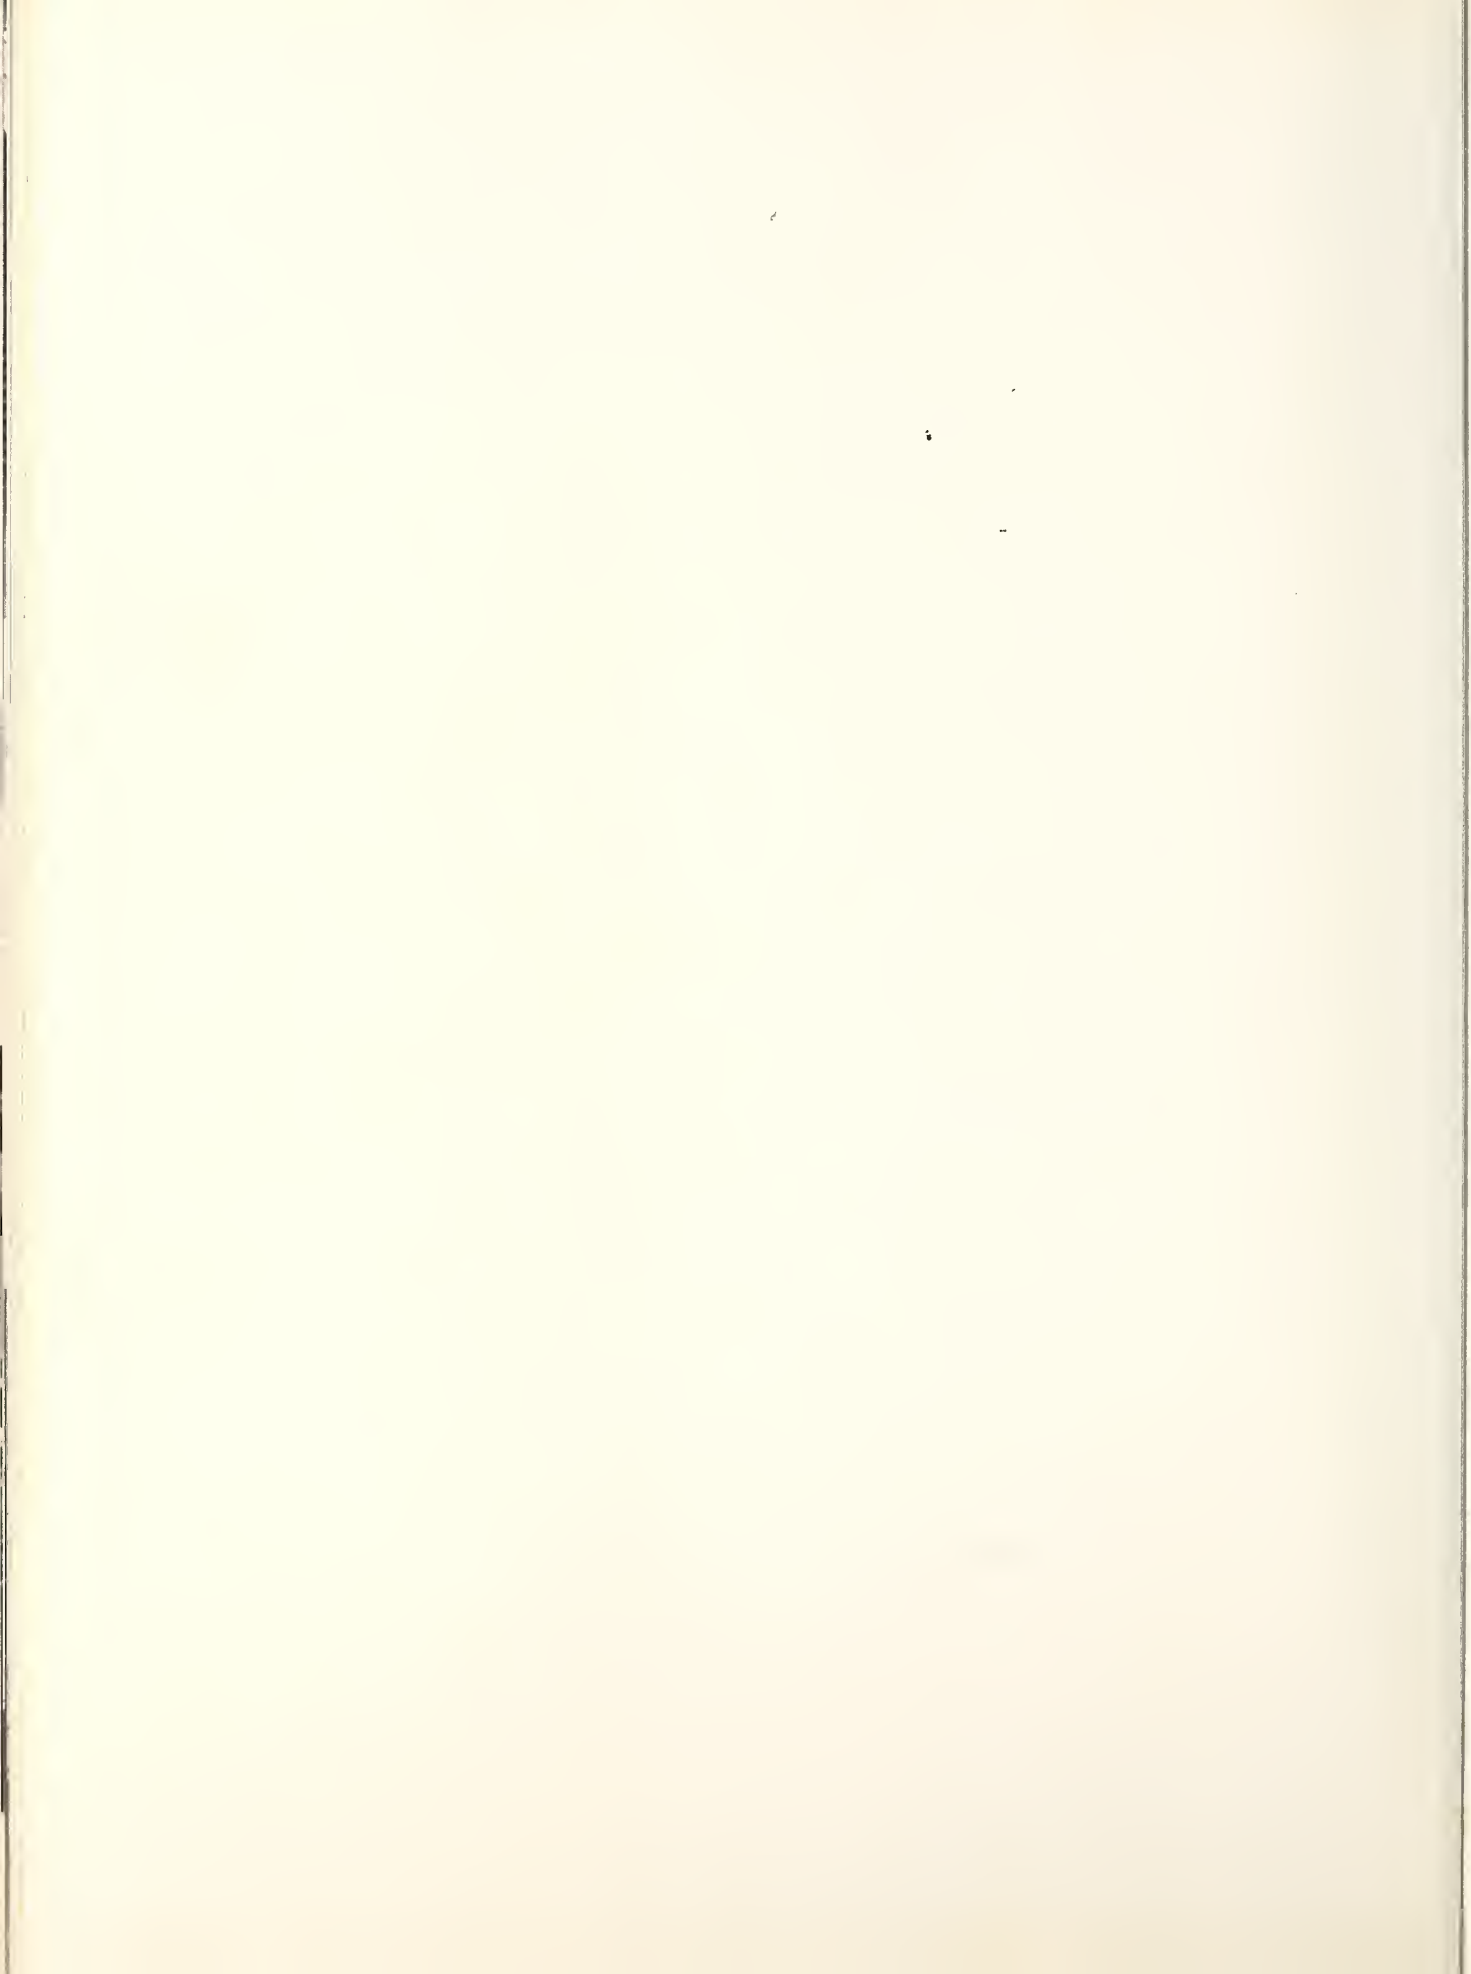

George -
Gosh thanks for taking the home all those millions of times! I sure do appreciate it. Have fun at college next year. We sure will miss the dinner -
Love,
Dorothy

But I know I will never forget what a nice boy you really are -
I hope I see more of you after this year. Best of luck always - Love, Rick the

NOT!

Georgie, just now
I got, you were going to realized you were going to to college with you and I wouldn't see you anymore -
Of course I would be in England - anyway, cause I'd be in England - still have a good time. George, ever since I've known you, you've be a good friend - always sweet as could be and always friendly. Thanks for that and good luck where ever you go. Of you in England,
Will be thinking of you
Gina Cassel
5/26/64

To the most patient & tolerant person in the world next to me in to sit next to me in Spanish for a whole year
and still make good grades.
Perhaps we should all get together and send Miss Dery a long, sincere letter. Just think, next year you will change from the highest form of high school vertebrate to the lowest form of college existence. Good luck Freddy Frog.
Mike "The Lete"

GEORGE,
WELL, THERE'S NOT MUCH TO SAY SINCE
I'LL BE SEEING
EVERY DAY FOR THE
NEXT YEAR, BUT
ANYWAY, GOOD LUCK
+ IT'S BEEN FUN.

SEE YA IN 322,
JONES

George was fun this afternoon water ing you get your new golf clubs!!
Do let cited!! I'll always remember the millions of rides you have given me and the water fights
we've had in the pool.
Have fun a U.W.C. next year.

Love
Cindy

George,
a great guy
and a good friend!
Good luck!
Bill

George,

It's been great fun heckling Mrs. Boule and Miss Grey with you in Spanish II. Lots of laughs in college. I figure if we can survive Miss Davis we can survive anything.

Your friend

George,

THAT JR.-SR. WAS REALLY FUN WASN'T IT? I SURE DO LIKE YOUR CAR - (AND FROM ME THAT'S REALLY SOMETHING!). HOW CAN I EVER FORGET THAT SCARE-CROW DANCE OF YOURS?!

HONESTLY, YOU'RE TOO GOOD TO BE TRUE. YOU'RE A CONSTANT FRIEND AND I'M SURE TO MISS YOU NEXT YEAR.
